HEAG provides different types of information relevant for students with disabilities who are considering Higher Education study abroad possibilities. The intention is that this information will help students with disabilities and the professionals that support them to make decisions about possibilities for study programmes and exchange activities.

Project experts from 28 countries have collaborated to collect focused information, which can be accessed:

- via country pages, offering country specific information on Higher Education;
- via the HEAG database that allows users to search specialist services and accessibility support for students in higher education in each of the countries.

Information on Higher Education in the participating countries is available for:

Austria, Belgium (covering the Flemish and French speaking communities), Croatia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, UK (covering England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales).

From these country pages you can access information regarding support for students with disabilities, the national approach to higher education and disability, as well as contact information of key people – including the HEAG project experts – in the country you have selected.

In addition you can search for specific institutions and the availability of specific disability support services in the language(s) of the country you have selected as well as in English using the direct links to the searchable database.

All information is available in English and the language of the respective country the information refers to.

The information in the database will be updated every two years.

The European Agency for Development in Special Needs Education is an independent and self-governing organisation, established by member countries to act as their platform for collaboration between professionals and decision-makers at both national and European levels, on policies and practice in special needs education.

The Agency is maintained by the Ministries of Education in member countries* and also supported by the European Institutions (Commission and Parliament).

The Agency publishes a range of publications and information resources in member country languages on a variety of thematic areas within special needs education. These are also available from:

http://www.european-agency.org/publications

Questions about situations in our member countries should be directed to country National Co-ordinators or Representative Board members – all their details can be found on the County Information pages of the Agency website:
