Our Global Reputation

In the past five years, NUI Galway has been the only university in Ireland to rise consistently in the world's most competitive university rankings.

According to QS World University Rankings, NUI Galway is among the top 1% of universities in the world.

We have also been named 'University of the Year 2018' in the Sunday Times University Guide.

DID YOU KNOW?
Galway has been designated European Capital of Culture for 2020 so we can expect world-class festivals and world-renowned artists to be calling Galway home!

Study Abroad Programme

Our popular Study Abroad Programme offers students the opportunity to study at NUI Galway and earn credits towards their degree at their home institution. As a visiting student, you can attend NUI Galway for one semester (Fall or Spring) or a full academic year. Visiting students can take up to five or six classes per semester, from across a wide range of subject areas (subject to certain prerequisites), to meet their individual academic requirements. Bespoke classes are also offered to visiting students in Marine Science and Biology, Irish Theatre and Indigenous Arts.

Philosophical Thinking with Children

This module focuses on an educational approach to learning called Philosophy for Children (P4C) which is a form of inquiry-based learning that encourages critical thinking through democratic dialogue. It provides students with a theoretical introduction to the P4C pedagogy, the opportunity to experience the pedagogy as members of a community of inquiry and the skills needed to become a P4C facilitator. Students will develop their own facilitation practice by delivering P4C workshops (in pairs) to groups of 4th and 5th class students (8-11 year olds) from primary schools located in and around Galway.

Philosophical Thinking with Children is a semester-long module worth 5 ECTS credits (approximately 2-3 US credits) and is delivered via

- 24 hours of academic lectures (one intense weekend training seminar of 14 hours and 10 hours across the semester)
- 10 hours of reflective seminars (1 hour per week for 10 weeks)
- 14 hours of service facilitation in local primary schools (7 weeks)

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this module, students will have mastered the basic tenets of the P4C pedagogy and demonstrated the ability to apply these tenets in a classroom context. They will also be able to reflect systematically on the P4C pedagogy, on their own practice as P4C facilitators and on the role of philosophy in general educational contexts.

Assessment

Students are required to submit a detailed "theory to practice" journal, which counts for 100% of the overall grade. In this journal, students will engage in theoretical reflection on the P4C pedagogy (in response to short readings) and will assess the impact of that reflection on their classroom practices. Throughout the module the group will regularly engage in facilitated reflection together.

Entry Requirements

Applicants are normally required to have completed two years study at a recognised college or university, with a minimum GPA of 3.0, to be admitted as a Visiting Student at NUI Galway.

How to Apply

Visiting Students can apply to NUI Galway through their home college or university, through a recognised third-party programme provider, or directly to the University. All applications for admission as a Study Abroad student must be made on the official Visiting Student Application Form available at www.nuigalway.ie/international

The closing date for receipt of applications is 30th April for admission for a full academic year or Semester One and 31st October for Semester Two.

The Student Experience

At NUI Galway we pride ourselves on offering a welcoming and supportive environment to help you make the most of your study abroad experience. We also offer you an unrivalled selection of cultural, sporting and social activities to enjoy while studying here to help you integrate and develop personal and social skills that will benefit you throughout your life.

We currently have over 150 sports clubs and student societies at NUI Galway. Through clubs and societies you can meet new people, build friendships and improve your talents. Whatever your interests, NUI Galway is sure to have a club or society for you.

NUI Galway also has an excellent reputation for the provision of care and support services to international students. The International Affairs Office in particular provides a comprehensive advisory, information and support service for students and organises various social and cultural events to help new students adjust and integrate into the life of the University.

Galway... Ireland's Cultural Heart

The unique student experience at NUI Galway owes much to our location in the beautiful west of Ireland. The University campus is a 10 minute walk from the heart of the medieval city of Galway, a true 'college town' full of students, writers, artists and musicians.

Young, vibrant and cosmopolitan, Galway is widely regarded as the cultural capital of Ireland and has been named as the European Capital of Culture 2020. The youthful and cultural energy of Galway is reflected in the many internationally renowned festivals, music sessions, cultural and sporting events hosted in the city each year.

Galway's surrounding hinterland, including Connemara, the Burren and the Aran Islands, is also major attraction for tourists and students alike, who come west to experience the Ireland of rugged countryside, castles, lakes and rivers and to savor the unique atmosphere of Galway's restaurants, cafes and traditional Irish music pubs.

Academic Dates

NUI Galway operates a semester system. Semester One (Fall) begins in September with examinations in December. Semester Two (Spring) begins in January and runs until April, with examinations held in late April/early May. Exact dates can vary from year to year, so please refer to the University website for your particular semester(s).

Student Housing

Visiting students are housed alongside our regular full time students in various student residences.

NUI Galway student residences are self-catering apartments located within a 15-30 minute walk of campus. Apartment units usually include 2-3 bedrooms, shared cooking facilities and living space.

Applications for housing are made separately to the relevant student residence. Please refer to the NUI Galway website at www.nuigalway.ie/accommodation for details.
