Michelle Downes
Psychology student
I am in my third year of a Psychology degree and I love it. We have a different range of subjects every semester and you really do regret it if you miss one! My favourite subject so far was Forensic Psychology because it was just so fascinating — much better than an episode of CSI!

The lecturers here are so approachable, they really do care and always make sure to provide their email addresses and office hours in case anyone has any questions.

NUI Galway has a wonderful atmosphere and has absolutely everything to offer. I have met so many different people here including some of my best friends... and you will too!

Peter Mannion
Law student
NUI Galway offers some of the best teaching in a very relaxed and friendly atmosphere. It also offers the very best in student life so it was an obvious choice for me.

Studying Law at NUI Galway has really opened doors for me. I got the opportunity to pursue an internship in the US Senate Office of Barack Obama. This was a real privilege. I remember the feeling of disbelief and elation each day as I walked to work in the US Capitol.

NUI Galway has given me the confidence and the skills that have allowed me to follow my ambitions.
