

OLLSCOIL NA GAILLIMHĒ
UNIVERSITY OF GALWAY

Master's in International Development Practice (MIDP)

- Are you interested in interdisciplinary global challenges?
- Are you following the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)?
- Would you like to become an agent of change by up-skilling in international development practice?

---

Programme duration

12 months (full time) with option for distance based learning & dissertation in Semester 2.

Contact for information

Dr. Una Murray, MIDP Programme
Director National University of Ireland
Galway una.murray@nuigalway.ie

APPLY NOW

www.universityofgalway.ie/courses/taught-postgraduate-courses/international-development-practice.html/

OLLSCOIL NA GAILLIMHE
UNIVERSITY OF GALWAY

Applying theory to practice and focusing on cutting-edge thinking on global challenges, this Master degree will equip you with the practical skills required for professionals working in international development.

For international or national graduates from any discipline who wish to:

- Apply theory to practice to become positioned for a vibrant career in development for the United Nations, international and national NGOs, foundations or consultancy firms.
- Obtain field-based research and problem-solving skills for addressing the SDG targets.
- Further their international development knowledge and ability to deliver impact on global challenges.

Program Outline (90 ECTS)

Core Modules (45 ECTS)

- Introduction to Development
- International Development Perspectives focusing on global challenges
- Project Management, Policy Coherence Analysis

Electives (15 ECTS)

- Climate Change, Agriculture and Food Security
- Development, Security and Governance
- Gender and Human Rights
- Sustainable Development Practice

Dissertation (30 ECTS)

- Research project linked with an international development institution.